

00:14 / 03:20

Rural News

Nchelenge records five cholera deaths

📅 February 2, 2013

🗨️ 6

👁️ 1,932 views

Five people in Nchelenge District in Luapula Province have died of cholera since the first case was recorded in December last year.

Dr Mwewa explained that the five recorded deaths includes one each from Kapambwe Clinic, Kafutuma Clinic, St Paul's Mission Hospital and two from Chisenga Island Clinic which is located on Lake Mweru.

Dr Mwewa made the revelation during a rescheduled 2012 Fourth Quarter Nchelenge District Development Co-ordinating Committee Meeting (DDCC) held in the Council Chambers yesterday.

He named the most affected villages by the outbreak as Shinjoni, Chandwe and villages around Chisenga Island.

The Director of Health attributed the outbreak to residents drawing drinking water from shallow wells and poor sanitation conditions.

Dr Mwewa said a total of KR60,000 has so far been spent in an effort to combat the outbreak.

He said the Ministry of Health in Nchelenge has since embarked on continuous village inspections and publicity campaigns on cholera prevention and liming of pit latrines.

The Doctor of Health named other activities being undertaken as enforcement of the Public Health Act, chlorination of water points as well as contact tracing.

Dr Mwewa informed the meeting that the past week has since seen a reduction in admissions, adding that no admission has been recorded in the past two days.

Meanwhile, a planner at the Nchelenge District Health Office has said the cases of cholera outbreaks usually recorded in the area can only come to an end if the water and sanitation situation is improved.

Gift Hajongola says there is urgent need to come up with the solution to the problem in order to save lives in the district.

ZANIS